1. The Panama Maritime Authority encourages all Panamanian flagged vessels transiting in Nigerian waters, to increase the security measures on board and comply with any security regulations recommended, in territorial waters, by the Coastal and Port Authorities; taking into consideration the recent piracy attacks occurred in the region (hijacking, kidnapping and armed robbery).

2. The Panama Maritime Authority further encourages the implementation of the necessary security measures established by this Administration through anti-piracy Merchant Marine Circulars, in particular MMC-238.

3. Taking account the high number of incidents in Nigerian waters, the INTERTANKO has released the following issues related to security in Nigerian waters:

3.1. The Nigerian Navy has started to station floating operating bases in the Delta and, coupled with a new monitoring process supplied by the US Navy, are able to interdict pirates at a very early stage.

3.2 The Nigerian Naval is only allowing naval guards to operate in the area onboard the vessels. The armed guards are no longer allowed onboard merchant vessels. Any vessel found with armed guards onboard will be detained and if the guards were from the Navy, they would face sanctions.

3.3 To provide security in Nigerian waters, the Nigerian Navy has entered into agreements with private security companies to supply armed escort vessels. These escort vessels are painted in Nigerian Navy colors, have a Nigerian Navy designation and will be crewed by and under the command of the Navy. Civilian contractors would be onboard to assist in maintenance and other general duties.
